

Quelques arpents de neige
Programme
Montréal, Québec
9-10 May 2008

Friday/Vendredi May 9 Mai

11h30-13h00: Lunch/Déjeuner, Thomson House restaurant, 3650 rue McTavish

13h00-17h00: Presentations, Thomson House, Room 405

Neil Forkey, St. Lawrence University
Novel Approaches to Canada: Using Fiction to Teach Environmental History

Sarah Gibson, McGill University
A Primitive Enlightenment: Plebian Contributions to Scottish Farming
Knowledge in the Late-18th Century Atlantic World.

Jennifer Bonnell, University of Toronto
Tracing the Social and Environmental History of Toronto's Don River

Colin Duncan, McGill University/Queen's University
Teaching Perspectives on Environmental History and Global Warming

17h00-18h30: Thomson House Pub

19h00-: Dinner/Dîner, El Gitano, 3507A av du parc

Saturday/Samedi May 10 Mai

10h00-12h00: Presentation, McGill School of Environment, 3534 rue University
Joan Marshall, McGill University
Report From Grand Manan Island

Readings/Lectures (online):
Joan Marshall, "Landlords, Leaseholders and Sweat Equity: Changing Property Regimes in Aquaculture," Marine Policy 25 5 (2001): 335-52.

Joan Marshall, "Defining Maritime Boundaries: 'the murky hand of history's oversight' in the Gulf of Maine," Canadian Geographer 48 3 (2004): 266-86.