

The Nuclear International Research Group (NIRG) presents

an interactive, interdisciplinary seminar on The Nuclear Industry

(supported by NICHE, the Network in Canadian History and Environment, and the Department of History, University of Toronto)

DATE: Friday November 13, 2009

TIME: 1 to 4 p.m.

PLACE: History Department, Large Conference Room 2098, Sidney Smith Hall, 100 St. George St., Toronto

Introduction: Prof. Laurel MacDowell, Department of Historical Studies, UTM

Allison Macfarlane, 'Nuclear Waste Repositories: How to Deal with the Uncertainty Underground,' Associate Professor of Environmental Science and Policy, George Mason University, Virginia

Commentator: Prof. Darrin Durant, Program of Science and Technology Studies, York University

Ian Slater, 'The Changeling: Public Resistance and Next-Generation Nuclear Reactors,' Instructor in the Natural Science and Science of Technology Studies program, Faculty of Science and Engineering, York University; Managing Editor of the history of science journal ISIS

Commentator: Prof. Janis Langins, Institute for the History and Philosophy of Science and Technology, University of Toronto

Linda Richards, 'The Navajo Nation and American Nuclear Science: Disrupting Hozho,' graduate student in the History of Science program, Oregon State University, and an activist

Commentator: Prof. Anna Stanley, Dept. of Geography, University of Galway

Everyone is welcome. Please pre-register with laurel.macdowell@utoronto.ca.